Affinity Organizations

In addition to the Alumni Association of Case Western Reserve and the individual school based alumni associations, there are other important alumni and affinity associations associated with the university. These associations serve as meaningful connectors to some of the university's most vibrant alumni communities.

The Case Alumni Association

The Case Alumni Association is the oldest independent alumni association of engineering and applied science graduates in the nation. The Case Alumni Association serves the interests of over 20,000 alumni from the Case School of Applied Science, Case Institute of Technology, and the Case School of Engineering.

African American Alumni Association

The African American Alumni Association's purpose is to provide support and networking opportunities to African American alumni of Case Western Reserve University and to promote in all respects the welfare and to extend the influence of Case Western Reserve University. Any person who has been a student, instructor, administrator or parent of a student with African American heritage is eligible for membership.

LGBT+ Affinity Group & LGBT Center

The Lesbian Gay Bisexual Transgender (LGBT) Center at Case Western Reserve University provides a long-awaited home for members of the LGBT community and their allies. It also serves as a source of information and insight for those who have lesbian, gay, bisexual or transgender children or loved ones. Finally, it is a place that welcomes alumni and prospective students, faculty and staff. The LGBT Center serves as a resource for all of the university community.

Spartan Club (formerly Case Reserve Athletic Club)

The common bond that draws this organization together is athletics at the university, both past and present. Through its functions, newsletters and activities at varsity athletic events, the Club represents a force of concern and interest to foster success with the current Case Western Reserve University athletic program and to preserve and promote traditions of the past. All alumni, friends, parents of current students, faculty and staff are eligible for membership.

Get Involved

Alumni Admission Program (AAP)

Alumni serve as one of the University's most effective recruitment tools. By becoming a member of the Alumni Admission Program (AAP) you can become an active participant in attracting the next generation of students and future alumni.

Alumni Career Network (ACN)

Alumni can volunteer their advice and assistance on the Alumni Career Network. This online network connects professionals with Case Western Reserve alumni and students to answer questions about their career, company, region, or other concerns. Alumni in the network also offer informal interviews and serve as mentors.

Alumni Benefits, Discounts and Memberships

Alumni House

Built in 1911, the Alumni House at Case Western Reserve University welcomes the university's alumni and friends to their campus home-away-from-home. The Alumni House was purchased by Western Reserve University in 1953. Throughout the years, the home served the university and community in various capacities, including housing the design studio for the Department of Architecture and later accommodating Nottingham-Spirk Design Associates Inc.

In 2007, with the support of dedicated alumni, the structure was renovated to provide a space for alumni to meet, relax, and reminisce. Considerable care was taken to preserve the house's historic tradition. The original leaded glass windows and detailed woodwork were restored to their natural beauty, and the slate roof and hand-crafted copper guttering honor the era in which the home was built.

In recognition of the care taken to preserve the house's architectural integrity, the renovated Alumni House was honored with the Historic Preservation Award by the Ohio Historical Society in 2008. The house serves as the campus home to more than 100,000 alumni and friends, providing meeting and entertainment space that invites the entire Case Western Reserve community to share in its history and future.

The alumni community is always encouraged to stop by the Alumni House anytime during regular office hours, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. Alumni also have the option of renting some or all of the house for special occasions and business functions.

Alumni Travel Program

The Case Western Reserve University Alumni Travel Programs allows alumni, family and friends the opportunity to explore the world without having to do the legwork! Offering over 25 trips annually, from walking tours to luxurious small yacht cruising, there is a travel opportunity for everyone's taste.

Travelers can choose packages with confidence knowing the CWRU alumni travel program partners only with top-tier educational travel companies. Not only do alumni travelers benefit from traveling with fellow CWRU friends but participating in a university-sponsored trip also helps raise money for other alumni programming. Explore the world today with your alma mater!

■ Alumni Association Awards

Every year the Alumni Association recognizes two outstanding alumni at the All Alumni Luncheon during Alumni Weekend. The Distinguished Alumni Award and the Recent Alumni Award are the pinnacle awards of the university's alumni community.

□ Distinguished Alumni Award

This award recognizes a graduate of any current or former school of Case Western Reserve University who has achieved both extraordinary distinction in a career rooted in education at Case Western Reserve University and who has provided meritorious service to the University.

□ Recent Alumni Award

This award recognizes a graduate who completed their education at the university in the last 10 to 15 years and has had exemplary professional or career achievement rooted in that education, or has shown exemplary in-kind/philanthropic service to Case Western Reserve University.

To learn more about becoming involved with the Alumni Association or to nominate a fellow alum for the one of the Alumni Association awards, please visit case.edu/alumni/aacase.

□ Newton D. Baker Award

Given by University Alumni Relations to an alumnus for Outstanding Volunteer Service to the University. The award honors the legacy of Newton D. Baker, mayor of Cleveland 1911 – 1915 and loyal supporter of Cleveland College. He urged everyone he met to volunteer time and talent in service to those in need.

■ Legacy Matters

An important part of any university is the ongoing tradition of family members attending the institution.

Case Western Reserve University can proudly boast to having multigenerational attendance, or Legacy Students, since the 1800's.

Today, the university is still committed to honoring our Legacy families because we realize alumni can pay no greater compliment to their graduating institution then by sending family members to their alma mater.

In order to highlight our Legacy family connections the Office of University Alumni Relations has created several Legacy programs, including the now annual pre-commencement Legacy Reception.

If you are a Legacy alum or the family member of a current Legacy student, please contact the Office of University Alumni Relations to learn more about Case Western Reserve University's commitment to recognizing this time honored tradition.

Remember, "It's all in the family" at Case Western Reserve University!
